

Blue Zones centre to debut in Miami

Downtown Miami is set to welcome the world's first Blue Zones health and wellbeing centre, dedicated to helping people live better, longer lives.

The 120,000sq ft facility is a product of a joint venture called Blue Legacy Ventures (JV), signed between mixed-use development Legacy Hotel & Residences and faith-based nonprofit integrated health system Adventist Health.

Adventist Health acquired Blue Zones as a subsidiary in 2020.

Blue Zones employs evidence-based ways to help people live longer, better.

The company's work is rooted in explorations and research done by National Geographic fellow Dan Buettner, who identified the 'blue zones regions' around the world where people live extraordinarily long and happy lives.

Blue Zones applies this research to transform entire populations by empowering people to live longer, healthier, happier lives, resulting in double-digit drops in obesity and smoking rates, increases in activity and happiness, lowered healthcare costs and more.

The health and wellbeing centre will sit within Legacy Hotel & Residences which will be situated within the upcoming mega-project Miami Worldcenter.

The estimated US$100m (€84.6m, £72.8m) Blue Zones Centre will cover 10 floors and offer the following services: diagnostic, surgical, medical, spa, fitness, lifestyle medicine and wellbeing improvement programming.

Miraval promotes Sheri Morgan Muskin

Sheri Morgan Muskin has been appointed general manager of wellness destination Miraval Austin in Texas, US.

In this new role, Morgan Muskin brings more than 35 years of hospitality experience – 27 of which have been spent at Hyatt.

Morgan Muskin says her passion for hospitality is rooted in interpersonal connection, and since joining Miraval Arizona as resort manager in 2017, she embodied this philosophy by establishing personal relationships with resort guests and creating bonds that persist well beyond check-in and check-out.

“Since joining the Miraval family back in 2017, Sheri's been a key part of the brand's success,” commented Susan Santiago, head of lifestyle and Miraval operations at Hyatt.

“She personifies Miraval's guiding philosophies of balance and connection, and her passion for hospitality is evident in her every action.

“I look forward to seeing her grow into her new role at Miraval Austin as she continues to lead with grace, compassion and care,” concluded Santiago.

TRAINING

Wellness for Cancer to host training webinar

Cancer advocate charity Wellness for Cancer (WFC) has partnered with regional US spa associations to host a virtual training conference to provide free accredited oncology massage and aesthetics training.

Hosted on 4-5 October 2021, the Virtual Oncology Massage & Aesthetics Training Conference will be available to both the regional spa association's member spas and non-members.

Content is being curated to enable therapists from around the world to learn from experts in the field on the main stage, participate in dedicated learning sessions and network with other attendees.

This year's theme "A Personalised Wellness Approach" will embrace topics for massage therapists and estheticians both in the spa and private practice settings.

Brent Bauer MD, director of integrative medicine at Mayo Clinic will keynote on the topic of 'Wellness: from prevention to living with and well beyond cancer'.

Julie Bach, WFC founder and industry figure, commented: "WFC and our medical faculty look forward to an engaging conference.

"What's most important to me is that we're making it easy and affordable for the industry to move forward."

■ The spa's upgrades and new journeys have been selected to help cement Gleneagles' position as Scotland's leading wellness destination

Escape to the country

Scottish hotel and spa destination Gleneagles has taken inspiration from its wild countryside surroundings to underpin its new spa refresh

Scotland's landmark country estate and hotel The Gleneagles Hotel in Perthshire will launch an all-new wellness offering this month inspired by botanicals found on The Gleneagles estate and nature.

The spa has been upgraded with two new relaxation spaces called the Spa Lounge and The Courtyard – both completed with a delicate palette of pastel pink and green tones and an abundance of lush plants.

Guests will also be able to visit a new Wellness Cafe partnered with Forager Herbs which curates natural herbal tea blends to target common wellbeing issues such as stress, lethargy, sleeplessness and digestion issues.

With any treatment that is booked, Gleneagles will offer a herbal tea to compliment the experience.

The destination has also altered its traditional guest journey by no longer having guests report to a reception desk on arrival to complete pre-treatment forms. Instead, visitors will undergo a consultation prior to arrival to raise any conditions, allergies, injuries or concerns.

New treatment opportunities

The highlight of the refreshed spa offering is Gleneagles' revamped wellness menu, including new retreats, treatments and spa partnerships.

For the first time, Gleneagles is producing its own balms, oils and scrubs derived from herbs and plants found on its countryside estate.

■ The new launch will also see Gleneagles welcome Dr. Barbara Sturm's first UK residency outside of London

A new range of essences has been created and used to create six signature treatments tailored to the individual.

Each begins with an aroma pathway during which the therapist will share a selection of Gleneagles oils, basing the treatment on the oil and the individual.

The new launch will also see Gleneagles welcome Dr. Barbara Sturm's first UK residency outside of London.

As part of the evolved wellness offering, two Dr. Barbara Sturm clinic rooms will join Gleneagles' 20 treatment

Gleneagles is producing its own balms, oils and scrubs derived from herbs and plants found on its estate rooms and its existing vitality pool, sauna, crystal steamroom, experience showers and heated loungers.

In addition, premium natural skincare brand Tata Harper has also developed bespoke rituals for the hotel.

Also joining the spa line-up is naturopath, functional medicine practitioner and nutritionist, Rosemary Ferguson, who has created new menus for the Spa and Garden Cafés and will host three one-off three-day retreats later this year and in 2022.●

Spa consultant and industry figure Kirsty MacCormick is curating a world-class destination spa in the UK's Lake District

■ Named Holte Spa, 8,000sq ft facility will include six treatment rooms

The Swan Hotel & Spa in the UK's picturesque Lake District is set to reveal a world-class wellness experience in December 2021 with the launch of a new spa.

Following a multi-million-pound investment, an extensive transformation is underway which will produce an 8,000sq ft destination spa with six treatment rooms, as well as 30 new spa bedrooms – all perched on the shores of the River Leven at the tip of Lake Windermere.

Named Holte Spa, the new wellness facility is being curated by Kirsty MacCormick of The Spa Consultancy.

Her vision is to pay respect to the natural beauty of the destination's surroundings with the concept drawing inspiration from the outdoors and with an emphasis on natural materials, holistic treatments and sustainable practices.

The facility will encompass a new spa garden with an outdoor/indoor chemical-free vitality pool, outdoor hot tubs providing a woodland bathing experience, waterfall showers, a Finnish sauna and a relaxation cabin complete with a fireplace.

The garden will offer a thermal circuit consisting of three bathing options depending on their wellness objectives – gentle, refreshing or intense.

MacCormick says this approach to personalisation and tailoring of individual wellness is a strong part of the Holte Spa ethos.

Indoors, guests will have access to a sauna, steamroom, experience showers and a vitality pool.

Relaxation spaces will also be available both indoors and in the spa garden.

MacCormick said she's most excited about the spa rituals, outdoor spa garden and brand partnerships with sustainable brands including Ground wellbeing, Comfort Zone and OTO.

"The range of unique treatments and services from our spa partners along with the authentic bathing journeys in the garden will be quite unique to the UK and give our guests fantastic results," she said.

Rituals will include a Bamboo Massage, Redwood Foot Reflexology, sound therapy and a CBD massages Guests will also be able to enjoy wholesome dishes at the new Spa Café & Deli, using produce from the hotel's kitchen garden.

To continue the wellness journey at home, there will be a carefully curated spa boutique offering books, bath and body products and more. ●

■ The overhaul is also adding 30 spa bedrooms to the property

■ All treatments feature Raised Spirit's natural skincare range, candles and aroma diffuser oil

Raised Spirit rolls out CBD body treatments to inspire harmonious alignment

■ Nick Osipczak, founder of Raised Spirit

Luxury hemp lifestyle brand Raised Spirit has launched its immersive full-body CBD ritual at Danesfield House Hotel and Spa in Buckinghamshire, UK.

The £145 (€170, US$203) ritual consists of a 90-minute Full CBD Experience that draws on different international healing traditions and cultures and is designed to coax both body and mind into a state of total relaxation.

The treatment begins with bamboo tapping to stimulate circulation and invigorate the senses, followed by a full-body massage to aid muscle recovery, loosen muscles and help guests relax to escape daily stresses.

Next, a breathing meditation is incorporated to help re-centre guests, accompanied by singing-bowl sound therapy combined with a guided awareness exercise to encourage a deeper state of consciousness.

Nick Osipczak, Raised Spirit founder, said the goal is to “offer clients an empowering experience that will enable them to take greater care of their own health and wellbeing”.

“These treatments have a long-lasting impact, emphasising healing over just relaxation.”

All treatments feature the Raised Spirit natural skincare range, candles and aroma diffuser oil that are hand-made in Oxfordshire using only 100 per cent organic and vegan-friendly ingredients.

Raised Spirit has also created the world's first entirely hemp spa uniform – including hemp slippers – for spa therapists conducting the new ritual.

Osipczak told Spa Business that Raised Spirit will be partnering with two more spas to supply its exclusive treatments this year, and a further three in 2022.

Marine product house Thalion has launched a new range of nutritional supplements rich in marine algae to boost vitality from within.

To create the line, Thalion has blended a super algae concentrate containing more than 112 minerals and trace elements deemed essential for optimal body function.

The formula is designed to help balance and strengthen the skin from within while also nourishing the body.

Laëtitia Têtedoux, Thalion's marketing and communication director, said: "When creating our supplements we harnessed all our knowledge about the human body and its optimal functioning to create a physiological approach to alleviate imbalances."

Thalion has unveiled three different types of supplement, including Super Énergie and Super Bien-Être both of which are ingestible vitamins, and the Super Équilibre ampoules which dissolve in water.

Super Énergie taps organic spirulina and chlorella to foster vitality and Super Bien-Être relies on marine magnesium to help relieve stress and fatigue.

Biologique Recherche has created two new firming creams – Crème Matricielle and Crème ADN Métamorphique – after reformulating and combining a selection of its existing products.

Designed as a true ally against loss of firmness, Crème Matricielle – formerly known as Crème Réparatrice – is a firming treatment formulated to combat lack of tone.

It's been created for the stomach, décolleté, arms and thighs and is designed to combat sagging skin caused by the decreased production of collagen and elastin. Its goal is to help firm and tone, improve skin elasticity and restructure and recondition the epidermal barrier.

To create Crème ADN Métamorphique, the brand blended two of its existing firming creams, Crème ADN Elastine Marine Collagène Marin and Crème Métamorphique.

This all-new combination is formulated for the face and designed to reduce sagging and cutaneous ptosis, restore elasticity and firmness, lift and tighten contours and strengthen skin structure.
